Profile

Kevin has extensive experience in the management of IT, encompassing over 20 years in Senior Line Management positions in both industry and consulting organisations across Australia and New Zealand.

He excels in roles where he is called upon to build strong trust relationships with Clients and colleagues based on respect and shared vision. He exhibits strong conceptualisation skills, is an accomplished people manager and has sound strategic planning skills. He also has the ability to discern important technology trends that will impact on both the business and end-user clients.

In servicing the needs of the business, Kevin looks to develop a team based approach. He encourages his team to take responsibility and actively encourages them to push the boundaries of their abilities, as he believes that it is in this way that they will grow to their full potential.

Kevin is a strong advocate for IT being used as an enabler for sound business which must have a strong regard for the end Client. In this regard, he believes that any IT investment must have strong support and involvement from a business sponsor in order for it to achieve, and that solutions must be appropriate for the organisation – that is, effective and affordable. He is an experienced communicator, and frequently advises Senior Business Executives.

It is Kevin's assertion that as a provider of services, his success is measured in the success of the organisation, and the development of the team he works with to provide those services. Furthermore he is a strong advocate of the need for objective measures to be in put place to allow for the realisation of benefits.
